GROWING JEFFERSON.

Abreast of all Her Compeers in the List of Great and Glorious Texas Cities.

[An Appreciation by Frank McDonald.]

Dual conditions obtain to prevent the writer of these articles to do full justice to the splendid resources and bright prospects of this grand old town. The multitudinous advantages of this portion of Marion county cannot be pictured in the limitations of space weekly afforded in this column and must hence be treated of in continuous chapters.

And the IMPLECURE is also circumscribed from any present exposition of the pending movements looking to and backed by such persons as warrant the surety of entire success—the rejuvenation of great iron industry which once be-shed the color of bright prosperity over the community, lest the premature disclosure of their broad gauged and wisdom conceived plans, work to their possible disadvantage.

And concurrent and concomitant with these propitious developments in the industrial field is the almost assured fact that the Cypress river will at the next session of Congress receive the attention she has ever been worthy of but has been so long denied. It is ironical to think of the Trinity receiving three quarters of a million dollars in one bulk sum, as it did at the last river and harbor bill, the Sabine was cared for and private capital fearlessly investing in navigation enterprises in this little stream and that the Cypress whose pellucid waters once floated more navigable craft than any other stream in Texas, should be overlooked. An expenditure of $20,000 would make the Cypress navigable for the largest draft vessels from its natural head at Jefferson clear to its confluence with the waters of the Red river, and whilst the big brained men of Jefferson and Marion county are bending every effort to secure this end it behooves every citizen to pitch in to the same end.

The city has recently and is now experiencing a moral wave which is in touch with the spirit that is making for a greater Jefferson.
The IMPLECURE readers well know that this paper has never been in tolerant in its leechments, yet it fully realizes and correctly reads the handwriting on the wall which plainly states that no community in modern moral Texas can hope to achieve civic greatness without concomitant private morality and chastity and hence we welcome the present and kindred movements.

To the desirable citizen who wishes to combine the conditions which make for material prosperity with the concomitants of Christianity and education opportunity Jefferson presents avenues seldom surpassed. She has six churches with resident pastors and well attending congregations, a first class graded school with five teachers, an excellent waterworks and electric light system. She is environed by a rich land as lies under the euf, blessed canopy of Texas skies, is populated by a generous, broad-gauge, whole souled people, and that Jefferson will soon again assume its ancient sway as the metropolis of Northeast Texas the writer firmly believes.

The establishment above named enjoys the distinction of being the oldest manufactory of this fine old town, in upbuilding and support of which it has played an important part, and indeed, if reckoned from the time of its earliest inception, it is the pioneer machine shop of the great Lone Star State.

The plant was destroyed by fire in the late eighties and rebuilt by the late Green B. McDonald and has ever since been in the hands of his family.

Upon the demise of Mr. McDonald, in 1899, its management was assumed by E. B. and John McDonald and by them jointly managed until two years ago when their interests were segregated, the latter taking the Jefferson Ice, Light and Power Co., which they had recently promoted and built and Mr. E. B. McDonald becoming sole owner of the shops.

The plant manufactures fire brick, shingle mill machinery, saw mill machinery, lumber buggies and all kinds of mill supplies. It makes gear wheel patterns on short notice and keeps in stock Garfield injectors, jet pumps and added to the filicitious courtesy which has ever graced is extended indebency of it.

W. F. Jones was born in Marion county, Ga., April 15, 1841, his parents removing to Louisiana when he was five years of age, and three years later came to within five miles of Jefferson, where his father purchased a large plantation.

The outbreak of the war between the States found him in the prime of vigorous manhood and he promptly enlisted in the 7th Texas Infantry, serving through the bitter struggle and participating in many desperately contested battles and sieges.

At the cessation of hostilities he returned to the home plantation, took a turn at a New Orleans business college and for 16 years thereafter he was bookkeeper for the G. A. Kelly Foundry Co., at Kellyville, and served for two years thereafter in the same capacity with L. K. Bivens of Atlanta, when he was elected County Clerk as first stated.

Mr. Jones' innate affability and courtesy of demeanor, coupled with thorough competence, are the two qualities which has won him the endorsement of "well done thou good and faithful servant," is emphatically expressed at the polls for the last quarter of a century.

Davis Biggs.
Like his co-laborer in the onerous and delicate duty of assessing the county taxes, the gentleman above named has long been an incumbent of the office of tax assessor, having been first chosen to the office in 1900 and re-elected at every election since, being now serving his fourth term.

Mr. Biggs is native to North Carolina, and raised in Texas, and for 30 years past has been a resident of Jefferson.

Although but 15 years of age at the opening of the civil war he enlisted in the fall of 1861 in the 30th Tenn., Infantry, participating in many hotly contested battles and campaigns.

He settled at Jefferson in 1868, for nearly twenty years conducting a nursery business here, and for fifteen years thereafter was engaged in the trading and dairy business.

As was first stated he was elected Tax Assessor and his successive re-election to the office attests the painstaking care with which he has discharged the duties pertaining thereto.

Geo. F. Moseley.
There is no more ardent champion and earnest advocate of Eastern Texas, and especially that portion tributary to the city of Jefferson, than the genial and capable clerk of the District Court.
"Why," said Mr. Moseley with emphasis, "compared with many sections of the South this county is a veritable garden of Eden. I know plenty of people from my native State—Alabama—came here without a dollar and who have acquired a comfortable competence and today live in the lap of approximate luxury. The IMPLECURE is on the right track. What Eastern Texas needs is advertising, and your present plan seems a proper one that may accomplish prodigiously good results."

Geo. F. Moseley was born in Hunte-ville, Ala., Jan. 11, 1858, but educated in Mississippi, where his parents removed in 1857. The family removed to a farm eight miles east of Jefferson in January, 1876, and for most of his useful years of life he has been an honest tiller of the soil. For several years past he has resided in Jefferson and followed different mercantile lines until May, 1906, when he was elected Clerk of the District Court of Marion county.

Mr. Moseley brought to the office a genial manner which is the gentleman of courtesy, and who coupled with thorough competency makes him a most popular and capable incumbent of the office.

Danger In Delay.
Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Jefferson People to Neglect.
The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills.

William F. Jones, machinist of 417 E.
Locust street, Marshall, Tex., says:
"For ten years I had attacks of backache, some of them very severe after a hard day's work or if I contracted a cold. The latter was always sure to settle in my loins and extra pains and inconvenience ensued. I knew from the action of the kidney secretions when these attacks were at their height that there was something radically wrong with my kidneys, but until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills I was disappointed in every preparation I used. I noticed the direct effect of Doan's Kidney Pills on the kidneys after a dose or two and a continuation of them of that last attack."

Get Right With Man.

A religion that fails to make a man pay his debts promptly and cheerfully isn't worth worth wagging around in the vest pocket.
There are men who profess great interest in the work of the church the mention of whose names would give an army of bill collectors nervous prostration any time. "Get right with God" is advice that every sensible man should heed—and the first step in that direction is to get right with your fellow-man.—Honey Grove Signal.

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by all druggists.
